Direct employment policy, roles and responsibilities

Explain how direct employment of school-based mental health services providers (school psychologists, school social workers, school counselors and other licensed mental health professionals) will reduce staff-to-student ratios.

The direct employment of school based mental health services providers will reduce staff to student ratios as it allows the mental health professionals to dedicate more time to crisis prevention and crisis situations. In addition, the professionals will be able to train and guide the other members of the staff on various strategies which will in turn provide a continuum of school mental health services to our students.

Describe your district's established policies and procedures to increase the amount of time student services personnel spend providing direct mental health services (e.g., review and revision of staffing allocations based on school or student mental health assistance needs).

Students are provided with the time and resources based on their needs. Community resources and services are referred based on an individual basis. The school uses the data to determine the need for more services.

Describe the role of school based mental health providers and community-based partners in the implementation of your evidence-based mental health program.

The school's mental health providers utilize and maintains relationships with community based partners to seek out the best treatment and provide the best services for our students and families.

Community Contracts/Interagency Agreements

List the contracts or interagency agreements with local behavioral health providers or Community Action Team (CAT) services and specify the type of behavioral health services being provided on or off the school campus.
